Commencement is Sunday

The IUPUI commencement exercises will be Sunday, May 14, beginning at 3 p.m. in the RCA Dome. A total of 5,430 students are eligible to receive degrees, including 258 IU School of Medicine graduates.

Immediately following the all-school exercises, the School of Medicine graduates will gather for a special ceremony to receive their diplomas and recite the Physician's Oath – a pledge to patients they will serve and uphold the standards of their profession.

For additional details about this year's commencement ceremonies, visit: alumni.iupui.edu/commencement/2006/.

Spring House Calls a success

More than 150 IUSM students participated in Spring House Calls Saturday, May 6, offering assistance to residents of the Haughville and Blackburn neighborhoods. The volunteers, the biggest turnout in the 10-year history of the program, planted flowers, cut grass, removed weeds, washed windows and performed maintenance on the homes.

To view photos of the event, see www.springhousecalls.com.

Public health certificate offered

The IU Department of Public Health now offers a one-year certificate in public health for individuals who are seeking an introduction to the core concepts of public health. The certificate program is offered in response to local requests from IU faculty, residents and students and from professionals in the metropolitan area who want to move into the public health arena and strengthen their research skills in population health.

Completion of five core public health courses, two public health seminars, and a community project will lead to an 18-credit graduate certificate in public health from the IU School of Medicine Department of Public Health. Credit from the certificate program can be applied to the MPH Program.

See www.pbhealth.iupui.edu for more information about the new certificate program.

Life Sciences Lunch Series – May 16

The next in the series of Life Sciences Lunch Series presentations will be from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

The topic, "Indiana Takes Center Stage in Adopting IT to Improve Patient Care," will include information from an Institute of Medicine reported in 2000 stating that between 44,000 and 98,000 hospitalized Americans die each year as a result of preventable medical errors. Not only does the U.S. health-care system waste an exorbitant amount of money each year, it has literally turned into a life or death situation for patients around the country, and in Indiana. Through various efforts, Indiana is embracing computerized medical information systems.

The series is presented by the Indiana Health Industry Forum and Barnes & Thornburg LLP. Lunch is provided or attendees can bring their own lunch. The presentation begins at noon. Register at www.btlaw.com/Event.asp?Event\_ID=435, or calling 317-231-7356.

The presentations can be viewed at Barnes & Thornburg LLP offices in Indianapolis, South Bend, Fort Wayne and Elkhart, also in cooperating facilities in Muncie, Terre Haute, West Lafayette, Evansville, Bloomington, Richmond,

Physician to the Astronauts to address IUPUI community

What do smoke detectors, mylar, barcodes, wristwatches, and battery powered tools all have in common? They are all examples of secondary applications or “spin-offs” developed originally by NASA.

During his presentation on Friday, May 19, at University Place Hotel and Conference Center, Scott Phillips, MD, IUSM ’90, will be doing everything except giving away top NASA and Department of Defense secrets. His presentation will include insight into his role in the Space Shuttle Rescue and Recovery team and as a flight surgeon, and how the space program continues to impact our daily lives.

Cost for the luncheon presentation at University Place Hotel is $20. Contact Danny Kibble at djkibble@iupui.edu, or 274-5060 or 866-267-3104 to make reservations. or with questions. The event is sponsored by the Alumni Associations of the Indiana University schools of medicine, law–Indianapolis, and nursing.

LAMP seminar – June 2

The June 2 Leadership in Academic Medicine Program (LAMP) will be "Key Elements of a Successful Academic Career" presented by Maurice Hitchcock, EdD. The program will be from 1 to 4:30 p.m. in the Riley Outpatient Center, lower level conference rooms A and B. Lunch is provided.

Dr. Hitchcock is a nationally recognized leader and expert in faculty development. He is currently professor and director of the Division of Medical Education at the University of Southern California School of Medicine. He also holds an appointment in the School of Education at USC where he is an active mentor and chair for health professions faculty pursuing graduate training in Education.

His program, the last LAMP session for this academic year, will tackle such questions as:

- What are the core elements needed to achieve and sustain a successful academic career?
- What does the literature tell us about "Quick Starter Junior Faculty?"
- How can the lessons learned from quick starters be used to make changes that will improve chances for career success?
- How important is the influence of a network of colleagues on career success?
- How can an individual improve her/his effectiveness through collaboration?

Since lunch will be served as part of this session please RSVP to Kelli Diener at kas1@iupui.edu, or 278-5461.

NRSA policy change comments sought

The NIH is seeking comments on proposed policy changes to the NIH Ruth L. Kirschstein National Research Service Award (NRSA). The proposed policy would institute a cap on the reimbursement of tuition and fees of $16,000 per year for pre-doctoral trainees, $4,500 per year for post-doctoral trainees, and $21,000 per year for trainees in a combined dual-degree training program. The NIH also proposes providing an additional fixed amount of funding toward reimbursement of health insurance costs. Comments will be accepted until Friday, June 2. See grants.nih.gov/grants/guide/notice-files/NOT-OD-06-064.html.

Honors

When you see posters promoting this year's Indy Jazz Fest, think of Isaac Arthur. Arthur, a computer support service student employee in the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology and a Herron School of Art and Design visual communications major, won the poster design competition and a $1,000 prize. The competition was sponsored by American Pianists Association and Kroger Company.

Tatiana Foroud, PhD, professor of medical and molecular genetics, has been awarded the District Award of Merit from the Boy Scouts of America. She is an active Scout leader, serving, among other things, as the assistant cubmaster at Pack 747 at St. Richards School in Indianapolis. The District Award of Merit is presented to leaders who give a significant amount of time for Boy Scouting, not only in their own pack or troop, but also for the district.

M. Sue Kirkman, MD, associate professor of medicine, has been named editor-in-chief of Diabetes Forecast, the magazine for the lay public published by the American Diabetes Association. Joining Dr. Kirkman's team as associate editors will be Paris Roach, MD, David Marrero, PhD, and Craig Williams, PharmD, all of the IU Department of Medicine; Henry Rodriguez, MD, IU Department of Pediatrics; and Ginger Such, RD, CDE, program director of the IU Diabetes Center of IU Hospital.

Julia LeBlanc, MD, MPH, has been honored by the American Society for Gastrointestinal Endoscopy and the ASGE Foundation as a recipient of the ASGE Career Development Award. The award, totaling $150,000 over two years, funds research relevant to gastrointestinal endoscopy. Dr. LeBlanc's study is entitled "The role of EUS in staging non-small cell lung cancer: Does EUS improve conventional staging in all NSCLC patients?" She is director of the endoscopic ultrasound program at IU.

Peggy Richwine, MLS, IUSM Medical Library, has been awarded the Librarian of the Year Ovation Award by the Indiana Health Science Librarians Association. Richwine was honored for her outreach activities with hospital libraries throughout the state. In particular, her management of projects such as the MedlinePlus Indiana Team (www.medlineplus.gov) and INHealthConnect (www.medlineplus.gov/inhealthconnect) have enabled libraries throughout the state to provide quality consumer health information resources.

Apryl Scott, MS I, is the recipient of a National Cancer Institute Summer Research Fellowship. She will spend the summer studying TGF-beta and TGF-beta receptor signaling and will work directly with Zhong-Yin Zhang, PhD, chairman of the the Department of Biochemistry and Molecular Biology.

J. Brent Sneed, MD, will be honored by the American Academy of Family Physicians with the Pfizer Teacher Development Award. Dr. Sneed, a 2003 Indiana University Family Practice Residency graduate, is one of only 15 physicians who have been selected for this prestigious national award in 2005. The award recognizes an outstanding community-based physician who combines clinical practice with part-time teaching of family medicine. As an award recipient, Dr. Sneed will receive a scholarship to attend a seminar to further the development of his teaching skills. Dr. Sneed is the preceptor for the IU Family Practice Residency program.

This week on Sound Medicine

Tune in at 4 p.m. Sunday, May 14, to Sound Medicine, the weekly radio program co-produced by IUSM and WFYI Public Radio (90.1 FM) in Indianapolis. The program is hosted by Barb Lewis. Co-hosts of this week's program are Kathy Miller, MD, David Crabb, MD, and Steve Bogdewic, PhD.

Guests will include Lorraine Corriveau, exotic pet and bird vet at Purdue University, who will discuss new guidelines for pet owners that specialists at Purdue University have developed to help them recognize avian flu symptoms and take preventive measures to keep any outbreak from spreading.

Also appearing on the show will be Goutham Rao, MD, author of the book Child Obesity: A Parent's guide to a Fit, Trim, and Happy Child. He will discuss how parents can create healthy home environments to help their children overcome obesity. Dr. Rao is clinical director of the Weight Management and Wellness Center at Children's Hospital of Pittsburgh.

Charles Emery, PhD, joins Sound Medicine to describe a study he recently completed on how exercise might boost the body's wound-healing capacity. Dr. Emery is a professor of psychology at Ohio State University.

Finally, in keeping with Mother's Day, co-host Kathy Miller, M.D. will share her second installment of her pregnancy journal. Even before her baby is born, she's adjusting to a new role of being cared for rather than giving care.

Archived editions of Sound Medicine, as well as other helpful health information, can be found at soundmedicine.iu.edu/

Scope submission guidelines

Scope wants your news items.

The deadline for submission is 8:30 a.m. on Thursdays. Scope is published electronically and sent to faculty, staff, students, and residents.

There are three easy ways to submit story ideas or information to Scope:

- e-mail the information to mhardin@iupui.edu
- mail the information to Mary Hardin, Z-7, Ste. 306, IUPUI
- fax your information to (317) 278-8722

Contributions submitted by e-mail should be forwarded in 12 point, plain text format.

In the interest of accuracy, please do NOT use:

- acronyms
- abbreviations
- campus building codes (use full, proper name of building and include the room number)
- Dr. as a preface before names (designate MD or PhD)

To keep the electronic version of Scope as streamlined as possible, only seminars and lectures of general or multidisciplinary interest will be included.
