Riley's Simon Family Tower possible with generous gift

The Simon Family has made a gift of $40 million toward the completion of the new 10-story inpatient tower at Riley Hospital for Children. Jackie Simon, a member of Riley Children's Foundation Board of Governors and wife of David Simon, CEO and chairman of Simon Property Group, announced the gift Nov. 14 at the Foundation's annual luncheon.

The Riley Hospital for Children Simon Family Tower will be fully completed by 2013, with the first phase opening in 2009. The wing is a 675,000 square foot, $475 million addition to the existing hospital. It will increase Riley's capacity for medical/surgical and intensive care patients, with a net gain of approximately 100 beds. It also will include expanded emergency room services, an obstetrics unit for high-risk deliveries; a larger newborn intensive care unit; state-of-the-art operating rooms and heart catheterization laboratories; a new heart center and imaging and radiology units.

The Simons' gift serves as the cornerstone of Hope Happens Here: The Campaign for Indiana's Children – a $175 million campaign to benefit Riley Hospital.

IUSM-Evansville, Mead Johnson announce partnership

Mead Johnson Nutritionals and IUSM-Evansville have announced the development of a Center for Nutrition and Immunity that will focus on research related to infant nutrition and immune system development.

Under the leadership of IUSM-Evansville Assistant Dean and Director Rex Stith, PhD, the program and its scientists will pursue an academic focus with an awareness of product development applications.

“Exploring the relationship between nutrition and immunity expands our focus in biomedical research, and will position us at the forefront of work being done in this area,” Dr. Stith said.

Mead Johnson’s participation in the project comes in the form of funding for the appointment of a new scientist and technician and to equip the center’s research laboratory in Evansville.

Marketing the life sciences – Nov. 20

The unique challenges of marketing in a regulated industry will be the focus of the Life Science Lunch Series program at Barnes & Thornburg, 11 South Meridian St., Indianapolis, on Tuesday, Nov. 20.

The program, “Marketing for the Life Sciences,” will begin with lunch from 11:30 to noon. Box lunches will be provided at Barnes & Thornburg offices, or attendees can bring their own. The presentations are from noon to 1 p.m.

The program is free but registration is requested so that the correct number of lunches can be ordered. To register, and to submit questions in advance, go to http://www.btlaw.com/Event.asp?Event_ID=627 or call 317-231-7356.

The lunch series is presented by the Indiana Health Industry Forum and Barnes & Thornburg LLP, and sponsored by Commissioning Agents, Inc.

Moore Symposium on Teaching Excellence call for proposals

The IUPUI Center for Teaching and Learning has extended the proposal submission deadline for the 2008 Edward C. Moore Symposium on Teaching Excellence until Wednesday, Nov. 28. Applicants will be notified in early January.

The symposium will be held on Friday, February 22, in the new IUPUI Campus Center. In keeping with the long-standing tradition of gathering around an academic issue of interest to all, the E. C.

Moore Symposium will continue to offer a variety of sessions that emphasize innovation and best practices.

For more information about the conference or to submit a proposal, visit ecmoore.iupui.edu/proposal.html. For additional information, please contact the Center for Teaching and Learning at 274-1300.

OMSL Medical Spanish lunch session – Nov. 30

Medical Spanish, a project sponsored by the IUSM Office of Medical Service-Learning, has lunch sessions scheduled in VanNuys Medical Science Building, room 311 A/B, at noon Friday, Nov. 30. Additional lunch sessions will be scheduled next semester. The students also are planning several Spanish discussion dinners at local Hispanic restaurants -- look for more information soon.

The student volunteer co-chairs – Hayley Knollman, MS2, Valerie Fenneman, MS2, and Tara McColgin, MS3 – noted that these Spanish-only lunches provide an opportunity for participants to develop their listening and speaking skills in an informal setting. Everyone is welcome to attend the Spanish lunches, regardless of Spanish skill levels. Participants can practice speaking within their own comfort zones or are welcome to simply come and listen. Typically, 20 to 25 students, staff and faculty attend these sessions.

Previous speakers this semester have included Sarah Stelzner, MD, an IU pediatrician, who spoke about her work with Hispanic patients at the Wishard Primary Care Center; Maria Boston, RN, who spoke about her experiences in Chile and contrasted the Chilean and American health care systems; and Liz Essary, who spoke about her role as interpreter at Wishard Memorial Hospital.

In June 2008 a four-week Spanish course for medical students with beginner/intermediate level skills is planned, modeled after the successful summer 2007 program. More information on this program will be available in February 2008.

The OMSL promotes a lifelong commitment to community service through innovative service-learning experiences. Visit www.medicine.iu.edu/omsl for more information.

Sound Medicine honored by Indiana Broadcasters Association

Sound Medicine has been awarded a Spectrum Award by the Indiana Broadcasters Association. The program was recognized as the “Best Special Interest and Cultural Program” in the non-commercial radio division.

Sound Medicine, a medical and health news program co-produced by the IUSM and WFYI Public Radio (90.1 FM), is a weekly, hour-long program that explores the impact of medical research on health care and what scientists are learning about diseases and well being. The program is hosted by Indiana broadcast veteran Barbara Lewis, and co-hosted on a rotating basis by five IUSM faculty – Stephen Bogdewic, PhD, David Crabb, MD, Eric M. Meslin, PhD, Kathy Miller, MD, and Ora Pescovitz, MD.

Now in its seventh season, Sound Medicine is broadcasted each week by Indiana Public Radio Stations in 18 Indiana markets.

This week on Sound Medicine

Tune in at 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 18, to Sound Medicine, the award-winning weekly radio program co-produced by IUSM and WFYI Public Radio (90.1 FM) in Indianapolis. The program is hosted by Barb Lewis.

People with cystic fibrosis are living longer these days, but their increased longevity can lead to complications, specifically with the liver and pancreas. IUSM surgeon Jonathan Fridell, director of the pancreas transplantation at the Clarian Transplant Center, has pioneered a simultaneous liver and pancreas transplant procedure to treat these complications.

Also, this weekend, Douglas Rex, MD, director of endoscopy at IU Hospital explains the pros and cons of virtual colonoscopy.

On the eve of one of the best holiday feasts of the year, NPR's Allison Aubrey takes a look at how to effectively remove bacteria from fruits and veggies and, for those interested in trimming a few pounds, she will share secrets to remaining loyal to your diet.

Speaking of diets, author Dianne Neumark-Sztainer, PhD, from the University of Minnesota, will talk about weigh control issues in teens.

Rockefeller University's Vincent Fischetti will discuss how old methods for bacteria control are being revisited.

Archived editions of Sound Medicine as well as other helpful information can be found at <http://www.soundmedicine.iu.edu/>. Sound Medicine is underwritten by the Lilly Clinic, Clarian Health, and IU Medical Group; Jeremy Shere's "Check-Up" is underwritten by IUPUI.

Scope submission guidelines

Scope wants your news items.

The deadline for submission is 8:30 a.m. on Thursdays. Scope is published electronically and sent to faculty, staff, students, and residents.

There are three easy ways to submit story ideas or information to Scope:

- e-mail the information to mhardin@iupui.edu
- mail the information to Mary Hardin, Z-7, Ste. 306, IUPUI
- fax your information to (317) 278-8722

Contributions submitted by e-mail should be forwarded in 12 point, plain text format.

In the interest of accuracy, please do NOT use:

- acronyms
- abbreviations
- campus building codes (use full, proper name of building and include the room number)
- Dr. as a preface before names (designate MD or PhD)

To keep the electronic version of Scope as streamlined as possible, only seminars and lectures of general or multidisciplinary interest will be included.
